

Abstract

A computational process for approximating and representing the shape of the interior of the heart is disclosed.

2010-03-11 10:00:00